Talk to the oldest female member of your family. Ask her to tell you a story about when she was your age. Write it down here.
Do something kind for someone you love, but this time, leave a note. On the bottom of this page, tell this person why you love them and why they deserved your kind act. Then tear it off and leave it where they’ll find it.
What are some stereotypes of girls? Can you think of three ways in which you meet those stereotypes and three ways you break them?
